FORMER CALDWELL (N.J.) POLICE CAPTAIN DONNA ROMAN HERNANDEZ ANNOUNCES RETAIL FILM DISTRIBUTION FOR “A CALL FOR VALOR” AND “FALLEN BLUE HEROES” FILMS

Newark, New Jersey — Former Caldwell (NJ) Police Captain turned award-winning independent filmmaker and Director Donna Roman (D.R.) Hernandez announced today in conjunction with her film production company, Blue Force Films, that her multi-award winning 37-minute documentary film, “A Call For Valor” and her newest 46-minute police documentary, “Fallen Blue Heroes”, are now available for purchase.

“A Call For Valor, a 37-minute police documentary, produced and directed by Donna Roman Hernandez along with her film production company, Blue Force Films, tells the story of veteran New Jersey Police Sergeant Ken Hogan and his brush with death. Left for dead with four bullet wounds to his body, Sergeant Hogan bravely implemented his well-honed plan to survive this armed encounter. D.R. Hernandez received the Best New York Director Award for “A Call For Valor” during the 2008 New York International Independent Film and Video Festival (NYIIFVF). Purchases may be made via www.filmbaby.com and www.blueforcefilms.com.

“Fallen Blue Heroes”, a 46-minute emotional documentary film, pays tribute to America’s fallen law enforcement Officers who have made the ultimate sacrifice protecting others. Each May during National Police Week in Washington, D.C. the Police Unity Tour, law enforcement officers, supporters, families and survivors gather at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial to honor, respect, and remember these heroes. “Fallen Blue Heroes” DVD is available for purchase via the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund’s Gift Store at www.nleomf.org as well as www.filmbaby.com and www.blueforcefilms.com.
